

XM and other satellite radio companies (like Sirius) should NOT be prevented from offering instant traffic and weather. There is no good reason - in a capitalist economy - to prevent them from offering such services. They offer an instant traffic and weather service that is far better than what is currently available over the free airwaves. Please don't shut it down.